"My lovesick life as a '90s otaku." volume 1 by Nico Nicholson. The heroine is an Otaku at a new school who does not wish to be known as an otaku because she was treated badly in middle school as an Otaku. She is intent on suppressing her otaku side but is constantly falling into Otaku mode. The Class President is a Yanki i.e. he keeps his hair slicked down and wears a gakuran uniform. She wears a sailor type uniform. The CP thinks she is shy and undertakes to welcome her to the school and carries her home on his bicycle. But he has a steady GF who is quite jealous. Now this is her view from the POV of a formerly married and currently employed mother whose child is an annoyingly privileged . The author despite the last name is apparently raised in Japan thus we get authentic Japanese feelings about many things. I found this in the Graphic Novel section of the San Francisco Public Library main branch from seeing 3rd volume of this on the New shelf. so I searched shortly and found volume 1.

USA 12.99 from Kodansha

All four volumes of this are fine reading.
Buy it if you can find room for the volumes. Not as wildly shipping as "Fujoshi Rumi" in which the fujoshi can only think of desirable young men as subjects of their yaoi fantasies. a while back, 02/02/2010 09:16 AM. Fujoshi Rumi aka Japanese title is "Mousou Shojo Otaku Kei". Was projected to be 4 volumes in English but the 4th volume was never published in the USA and I was so happy to find that it had been put up online.
Anyway if you don't have the money use a good search engine like DuckDuckGo.
