I have just upgraded my computer system and I find that I don't need two printers. This printer has been excellently maintained and has performed flawlessly for me in the past.

The device is an Epson MX-80 with graphtrax (this enables bit-mapped graphics). It has been modified for continuous service by the addition of a cooling fan (cools the logic board and he print head).

And, the best part about it is the price: $190.00.
