ST III is finally out on videotape. It's also cheap (under $30)!

Now, where can I get ST II with the additional scenes that were run on ABC. Contrary to popular myth, they are NOT on the general release videotape.

(1) The only place you can get STII on videotape with the extra footage is from someone who taped the broadcast. Cripes, it was only on the other week! Give it some time and maybe Paramount will release the expanded version on tape.

(2) The popular myth is not that the STII commercial videotape has the extra footage. The popular truth is that the commercial videotape of the first Trek movie has the extra footage that was added to it for its tv broadcast.

Sorry for being impatient about getting hold of STII with the extra footage.

The myth I was referring to was a previous posting to the net stating that the extra footage was on the commercial release videotape. Having said tape, I can tell you the footage is not there. I just thought that if people were under the impression that the extra footage was indeed on a tape somewhere, that they would know where I could get it.

Holding my breath,
Mikki
