

---

Subject: Star Wars Ep II and III in 3D?

Posted by Your Name on Fri, 29 Nov 2013 23:19:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

From the "Oh the Gods, WHY?!?!" file comes ...

On another note, Jedi News UK reports that Episode II and III will be getting a 3D release like Episode I did:

I've got another tidbit of news. Pathé is a large chain of cinemas in The Netherlands and whilst browsing their website I stumbled across something interesting. It was something I haven't come across anywhere else, so the first thing I did, was call to confirm it. And they did. On the website they have Attack of the Clones and Revenge of the Sith listed for December 31st, 2014, both movies in 3D!

<http://www.jedinews.co.uk/news/news.aspx?newsID=14452>

This makes sense leading up to the release of Episode VII. Stay tuned!

At least they've got the right cinema chain ... the 3D-erised movies are pathetic. 3D movies in general are mostly a useless gimmick, but the 3D-erised 2D movies are just hopeless, and a complete waste of time and money.

Hopefully it's just some data entry error where someone at the cinema keeps pushing them forward instead of deleting the previously cancelled entries. :-)

---